1. During the period from 18 to 24 April 1952, the tank regiment stationed in the Panzer Kaserne, Neubrandenburg (N 54/O 66), returned to the installation in small groups from the tank firing range near Neustrelitz during the night hours. The Panzer Kaserne was reoccupied to capacity on 24 April. All quarters were lighted. Fifteen tanks were seen in one of the large garages. [] the three other garages were also occupied by 15 tanks each. Three more tanks were seen in an open shed on 24 April. On 20 April, 12 x 76.2-mm AT guns which had been hauled into the installation by trucks, were in the other garages. These other garages also housed trucks and a small number of armored scout cars. Lieutenant Colonel Cherpin (fnu) was supply officer in the Panzer Kaserne. [] a unit of the military police previously located at the post had moved to Neustrelitz (N 54/U 54). []

[] the commanding officer at that barracks installation had repeatedly been changed during recent weeks. [] an officer named Pelkin (Phonetic spelling) (fnu) was commanding officer in early March when the previous commanding officer was transferred to Neustrelitz. *

- * [] Comment. [] in early April 1952, the unidentified Gds heavy tank SP regiment of the 9th Gds Tank Div moved to the area of Penzlin-Neustrelitz for practices. [] The information in the present report of a tank firing range indicates that the comment on the referenced report was correct in assuming that a troop training grounds with probably permanent quarters may be located there. The number of 63 tanks tallies accurately with the T/E of the regiment carried here. The AT guns, according to the T/E, do not belong to a heavy SP tank regiment.

-  [] Comment. [] belongs to the unidentified Gds heavy tank SP regiment of the 9th Gds Tank Div in Neubrandenburg.
